

ABIGAIL CHILD
www.abigailchild.com
achild@mindspring.com

Abigail Child has been at the forefront of experimental media and writing since the 1980s, having completed more than fifty film/video works and installations, and written 6 books. An acknowledged pioneer in montage, Child addresses the interplay between sound and image, to make, in the words of LA Weekly: "brilliant exciting work...a vibrant political filmmaking that's attentive to form." Her major projects include Is This What You Were Born For?: a 9 year, 7-part work exploring sound and image; B/Side: a film that negotiates the politics of internal colonialism; 8 Million: a collaboration with avant-percussionist Ikue Mori that re-defines "music video"; The Suburban Trilogy: a modular digi-film that prismatically examines a politics of place and identity; and MirrorWorlds: a multi-screen installation that incorporates parts of Child's "subtitled film" series to explore narrative excess.

Her most recent works are a trilogy of feature films, including UNBOUND (2013), an imaginary 'home movie' of the life of Mary Shelley, teenage author of Frankenstein shot in 16mm in Rome; ACTS & INTERMISSIONS: on the life of anarchist Emma Goldman in America (2017) shot in NY which premiered at MoMA; and ORIGIN OF THE SPECIES, (2020-21) shot in Japan and US, which explores human-machine interactions in the 21st c. and premiered at DocNYC 2020, now available on Amazon, AppleTV/iTunes and distributed globally by Journeyman Pictures, UK.

She has currently completed an experimental feature documentary PRECIPICE (2025) focusing on climate and sociological change as it affects a Nova Scotian shoreline community, a place in which Child has summered for nearly two decades.

Winner of the Rome Prize, a Radcliffe Institute Fellowship, Guggenheim and Fulbright Fellowships, the Stan Brakhage Award, as well as participating in two Whitney Biennials (1989 and 1997), Child has had numerous retrospectives worldwide, most recently an 8-part Retrospective at Anthology Film Archives, in March of 2023. A similar retrospective at the Cinemateca do MAM in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil is being planned for June 2026; her work showed this June 25 at CineOP, in Ouro Preto, Brazil. Earlier retrospectives include Buena Vista Center in San Francisco; Anthology Film Archive (in conjunction w/The New Museum, NY); Harvard Cinematheque; Reservoir-Switzerland; EXIS Korea; the Cinoteca in Rome; and Image Forum in Tokyo. Her work has been exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art NY and PS 1 in Queens, the Whitney Museum, Centre Pompidou (Paris), Museo Reina Sofia (Madrid), and in numerous international film festivals, including New York, Rotterdam, Locarno and London. Harvard University Cinematheque has created an Abigail Child Collection dedicated to preserving and exhibiting her work.

Child is also the author of six books of poetry (A Motive for Mayhem, Scatter Matrix and Mouth To Mouth among them) and a book of critical writings: THIS IS CALLED MOVING: A Critical Poetics of Film from University of Alabama Press (2005). As a professor at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (1999-2016), Child has been instrumental in building an interdisciplinary media/film program; her work and practice have inspired several generations of younger artists.
